MAGICAL ENTERTAINMENT

People today are becoming more sophisticated in tastes and expectations, demanding the best in everything - an excellent meal, fine wine and entertainment to match. If you are planning a social occasion then why not consult Dave, the close-up magician for all occasions.

When you engage Dave, he knows your guests are of paramount importance and entertaining them is his speciality.

Whether your party is to entertain family, friends and/or business associates, every experienced host and hostess knows, without careful planning, a party very soon begins to flag. A willing guest, who knows a trick or two, soon gathering an enthralled group of people, often overcomes this.

Imagine the advantages of having a professional magician, who can mingle unobtrusively with your guests, entertain and then retire discretely into the background. Someone with years of experience in close-up magic, who knows when to start and more importantly, when to stop.

Dave has made this form of entertainment his own speciality through years of entertaining at corporate business functions and private celebrations. He will gladly give you details of his repertoire and terms. Make your party the most talked about this season by engaging Dave with his close-up magic.
