J D started her singing career in the late 1970s even in those far off days her similarity to Vera Lynn was well recognised and earned her the title "The Sweetheart of the Midlands".

At that time she was selected to work in many of the top Cabaret Nightclub Restaurants such as the Talk of the Midlands (Nottingham), Talk of the North (Eccles) Heart of the Midlands (Birmingham) Embassy Club (London) as Support to Numerous Star acts and bands.

Although at that time J D was renowned for her excellent renditions of Vera Lynn favourites, she did not actually specialise until 1995 she was asked to do a performance for the VE DAY 50th Anniversary Celebrations, the year Dame Vera performed her last concert.

A whole new show was produced for J D the music being especially created from scratch for all of the Wartime Favourites in her singing key, which happens to be the same as Dame Vera's, to recreate as near as possible the original versions.

The VE DAY shows were a total success and bookings started flowing in for the Wartime Show which is known as "HITS OF THE BLITZ".

The same success was repeated for the MILLENNIUM Celebrations and for The Queens Jubilee Celebrations and J D is now known Nationally and Internationally As Britain's No1 singer of WWII Songs sing along and Patriotic Anthems.

The "HITS OF THE BLITZ" Show is now the mainstay of her schedule.

On April 30th 2005 J D Performed her show in the Presence of Dame Vera Lynn.
