

Ms Dot Com

It all began in April 2004 when Ms Dot Com took to the stage at The Queens Arms in Lewisham to a crowd of around 30 people: I was a guest to a vocalist and my first ever show consisted of singing live and telling gag after gag for around half an hour. I did a show every Sunday for about 6 weeks, keeping the crowd laughing at silly jokes and singing all the favourite musical numbers.

It was not long before I performed at Stonewalls, Lewisham's premier gay club. I hosted a charity night in aid of Terrence Higgins with many familiar faces from the Cabaret Circuit.

In February 2005, The Black Horse in Stepney and The Stag in Victoria - to name a few - was where I performed a number of guest spots and slowly began to make a name for myself on the London cabaret circuit. It was a real eye opener and a great experience to work with some of the busiest acts.

I began to branch out in March 2005 when I performed my 40 minute act in West Sussex at the Jack Horner and in Kent at the Ship Inn, Rochester. I particularly enjoyed seeing the audience's faces light-up as they glared at my sequined gowns when I take to the stage.

April 2005, I did my first cabaret show at a dinner dance in Hertfordshire accompanying a live Band. The atmosphere was electric and I got great satisfaction from the cheers and laughter of the audience as I left them wanting more.

By May 2005 I had worked in London, Kent, Brighton, Hertfordshire and Birmingham with a lot of encouragement from 'Sophie' - who is famous for her hen nights - and the outrageous 'Kitty Litter'.

1500 people paraded through the streets of Canterbury and flocked to Dane John Gardens where I had great pleasure in performing live on stage at Canterbury Pride in June 2005, along with international cabaret artiste Mr Lee Tracey and other acts from the scene.

I compered my first ladies night in July 2005 with 2 male strippers. It was great combining comedy with singing and fantastic entertainment. The girls were in fits of laughter at some of the witty gags like the flavoured condoms to the men being useless in bed!

They were dancing in the interval and great fun was had by all.

I have given up many evenings to perform at various bars to raise money for local HIV and cancer charities; I believe that charity nights provide a great opportunity to help others.

Ms Dot Com is available - and can travel throughout the U.K. - for all types of shows; comedy nights, cabaret shows, ladies and hen nights and gay venues, live vocalist and comedienne. P.A. system can be supplied, if required.
