

Steel Pan Soloist & Band

Caribbean steel pan soloist, and is also involved with a Caribbean steel drum band

What started out as a joke has now become the joy of my life...

I was born in the Caribbean then later migrated to England. I started playing pan at a tender age, with no musical knowledge and no common sense about the Steel pan I fell in love with the instrument and learn to love appreciate the instrument.

Music is my life , learning to play the pan is a gift from god. my commitment and ability to demonstrate the great musical passionate of the pan have take me places such as Trinidad &Tobago , Panama ,Turks and Cacaos ,Etc. One of my greatest achievement to date , was getting he chance to represent my country at the 'World steel pan festival', held in Trinidad & Tobago. I also had the opportunity to play with some of the world top Steel Orchestras in Trinidad & Tobago.

My musical journey started in Jamaica at the 'Edna Manley College of visual and Performing Arts'. After I have completed my course, in Jamaica ,I further continue my studies at South Birmingham and Wolverhampton University, where I have gained my (BA Hons) in music Performance.

I must acknowledged Mr. Ruthven Jackie , who was my mentor back in the Jamaica , he will always be remembered ,because he has always believed in me ,even when I felt like quitting. My Mother I can never repay her for what she has given to me, all my friends and family who has always supported me and the almighty, he made all the impossible possible

I am an experienced Caribbean steel pan soloist, steel pan tutor and arranger, but I can provide an extensive range of quality steel band acts such as two, three, four and five piece bands. I am available for lessons in music theory and steel pan, for schools, youth clubs, community groups or business team building events etc.

My continually expanding repertoire of music is very diverse, covering genres such as Jazz, Classical, Pop, Reggae, Calypso, and Romantic. Apart from being a pan soloist, I also perform as part of the Steel band Orchestra and small steel band groups.
