

Steel Band Trio

Steel band trio and a professional UK-based steel band (or 'steel drum band') available for hire with musicians based in London and Manchester. The band was born into this less than tropical climate back in 1986, and promptly achieved nationwide popularity. We travel all over the country, and indeed abroad, playing to audiences at events with (or without!) a tropical theme like Caribbean nights, private parties, wedding receptions, corporate events, product and project launches etc. in venues as diverse as hotels, festivals, schools, tv and radio studios, village halls, pubs and restaurants. In so doing, we make it our business to transport your imagination to the most idyllic sun and rum-soaked Caribbean vacation you have ever or never had!

And so to the music. The instruments they play are Caribbean 'steel pans' or 'steel drums' (the national modern folk instrument of Trinidad & Tobago) which we augment with other stuff as and when required. So we can sing, we can perform in various sizes and guises, organise steelband workshops and generally on request mould performances that expand upon the traditional calypso and Latin styles of music that form the core of our repertoire. This flexibility and a great sense of fun, they could argue, give them the edge over the competition. But they'd be lying.

Available either as a fully-instrumental and unplugged acoustic act or as a vocally-led amplified band, they will always try to play the right material for you at the right volume whether there are two or twenty members in the band for your event.

Together for the past 16 years now, they have an excellent track record in the broad variety of work that they have done. Aside from the top 5 star hotels such as The Dorchester and Park Lane Hilton, they have successfully played for private parties, weddings, college balls, company launches, festivals and countless Caribbean theme nights in that time.
